

Frantz Patrick-Herve Dupre

August 25, 1969 - September 14, 2023

Frantz Patrick-Herve Dupre (AKA Pat/Patrick/Patootoo) was born on August 25, 1969, in Brooklyn, NY to the late Marie Carmel Dupre and Frantz Herve Dupre. Pat later moved to Miami, FL where he met his ex-wife Terri Murray and had two beautiful girls that he loved entirely. He was a down to earth, quiet, and funny friend, brother, and father. He made sure that those that he came in contact with were treated like FAMILY.

Patrick had a passion for cooking. He made sure that growing up that his sister Martine was well fed and taken care of and most of all protected. Patrick later in life decided to take those special cooking skills that he loved and turned it into a career where he graduated from Le Cordon Bleu College of Culinary Arts. Patrick spent most of his life as kitchen manager at his second home away from home Beverly Hills Café (Plantation & Cooper City, FL) where he created many long-lasting friendships. Although he was a quiet person, he was a loud person on the dance floor. Patrick was a huge fanatic of the Miami Hurricanes, Dallas Cowboys and Miami Heat.

Patrick leaves behind to celebrate and remember his life: his two loving daughters: Jasmine Dupre (27) and Mia Dupre (24); his sister: Martine McKenzie; brother-in-law: Marvin McKenzie; his uncle: Yves; aunt: Claudette Pierre-Louis; best friend of many years: Octavian Henderson (since high school); God-son: Tavon Henderson, and many nieces, nephews and cousins whom he adored, and a host of close family and friends.
