

Marc A StLouis

May 18, 1949 - August 2, 2023

Marc André St.Louis was born in Gonaïves, Haiti on May 18, 1949. In Gonaïves, he attended Primary School at “Les Frères de l’Instruction Chrétienne” and part of his Secondary School at “Lycée Fabre Nicholas Geffrard,” which cycle he completed at “Lycée Toussaint Louverture” in Port-au-Prince, Haiti.

Perhaps inspired by Frederique Dornéval (“Ton Fédé”), his father figure following the very premature loss of his biological parents, Marc developed early on a special affinity for electro-mechanical engineering. Hence, he elected to attend “College Canado-Haitien” in Port-au-Prince, to perfect his skills in the field he loved most.

Subsequently and for a few years, he worked for Westinghouse company in Port-au-Prince, primarily in the role of supervisor. He went on to marry his lovely fiancée Yvette Hilaire, and from that union arose one beautiful daughter Pascale and a handsome son Moise. He then migrated to the United States in Miami, Florida in 1979. His fascination for motor vehicles took him straight to Miami Dade college where he pursued a degree and then settled down by opening his own “Marc Auto-Electric Shop” in Miami, once a highly renowned provider that, for decades and with the highest efficiency, served the relevant needs of the neighboring community, until he retired a few years ago.
